Previously on TALENTED:

Our collection of powerful tools designed to support autistic individuals in the workplace was launched in March. Whether you're an employer, a professional, a family member, or an autistic individual, the TalentED Toolbox has something for you. Check it out now on our website!

It was preceded by virtual focus groups with experts, highlighting the need for more inclusive communication, tailored support, and workplace adjustments to improve employment for autistic adults. We used their insights for the next big thing - the training curriculum.

In February, we met for a second time - in Athens - to work together on the curriculum development. It is now ready and will equip adult educators with essential tools to support adults with autism in the workplace, covering their rights, employment competences, soft skills, and stress management techniques.

Over the last 6 months we hit a major milestone — the launch of our Toolbox to support autistic individuals in their employment journey!

- Real-life Good Practices from inclusive companies
- Inspiring Quotes and Role Models that celebrate neurodiversity
- Handy Q&A cards for job-related questions
- A tailored Job Fitting Map to explore suitable career paths
- Practical Benefit Cards for job seekers, employers & counsellors
- The fun and educational TalentED Game for inclusive workplaces

Are you ready to embrace inclusion?

What's next?

Up next, we're bringing together international experts for an interactive workshop to co-create effective stress management and wellbeing strategies for autistic adults in the workplace. We're also developing practical training resources for both learners and educators — shaped by research, stakeholder input, and peer feedback.

Stay tuned and follow us for updates!
